Learning to read

SPELD SA Phonic Books support the teaching of reading by using a structured synthetic phonics approach. They are designed to build on the pre-reading skills of oral language and phonological awareness needed for reading success. The books support the learning of letter-sounds and blending in a sequential phonic order, helping students to develop their independent decoding skills. The books also contain limited high frequency words that need to be taught before reading the book. The questions and activities focus on increasing a student's vocabulary and fluency and encourage the student to make deeper connections with the author's message.

The camel that had no hump (136 words)

Before reading the book, use the practice page to:

1. Revise the alternative spellings for sounds

2. Teach the blending of letter-sounds in regular words

The student points to each letter or combination of letters, saying the sound they represent. Swipe left to right under the letters, saying the sounds quickly and smoothly together to read the word. e.g. f-ur is 'fur'; f-ew is 'few'; c-r-aw-l is 'crawl'.

During single word practice, check that the student understands the meaning of the word.

If the student is having difficulty hearing the word when blending:

- repeat the sounds more than once in succession to help the student 'hear' the word
- model stretching the sounds together without pauses, e.g. nnnniiiiip, is 'nip'
- use letter tiles and push them together while saying the sounds.

3. Teach the high frequency words

Tell the student the words and determine any 'tricky' parts by breaking up the word into its sounds. Many high frequency words will be able to be sounded out later as the student learns more sounds and how they are written.

Reading tips

A combination of letters can represent a sound, such as in boat (b-oa-t), song (s-o-ng), fern (f-er-n), shout (sh-ou-t), or night (n-igh-t).

A sound can be written as different letters or letter combinations, such as the sound /ai/ in 'rain', 'play', 'make', the sound /ee/ in 'sleep', 'heat', 'happy' and the sound /ou/ in 'shout' and 'brown'.

A letter or letter combination can also represent different sounds, such as <ow> in 'how' and 'grow' or <y> in 'yellow', 'try' and 'mystery'.

Words can contain split vowel digraphs, such as in 'make', 'eve', 'bite', 'note' and 'tune'.

The suffix <ed> can represent the sound /d/ as in 'rubbed', /t/ as in 'packed' and /id/ as in 'landed'.

Words can contain schwa vowel sounds. The schwa is pronounced as an /uh/ sound, such as in, 'Nana', 'butter', 'across', 'the'. Explore with the student which part of the word has the schwa sound by breaking the word into its sounds. Take note of how the schwa sound is spelt.

Practice page

Set 10 includes words with alternate spellings for the sounds /oa/, /ou/, /er/, /ue/, /oo/ and /or/.

Practise blending sounds in words

| | | | |
|-----------------|--------|--------|------|
| oe /oa/ | Joe | | |
| ow /oa/ | grow | | |
| ow /ou/ | now | down | wow |
| ir /er/ | dirt | smirks | |
| ur /er/ | fur | turns | hurt |
| ew /ue/ | few | new | |
| aw /or/ | crawl | | |
| al /or/ | all | | |
| Revision | really | smiles | herd |

Practise high frequency words

| | | | |
|-------|------|-------|------|
| lives | of | the | have |
| wants | here | to | you |
| only | are | awful | |

Vocabulary

The words on this page can be used to help the student's comprehension before, during or after reading the book. Link the meanings of words with what the student already knows, show examples or have students act out the words.

odd – different or strange

left out – excluded

new arrival – someone who has just arrived

feels awful – feels unhappy, sad

herd – a group of animals

hump – the bump on the back of a camel

smirks – smiles in a way that shows pleasure about knowing something that is not known by someone else

Joe lives with a herd of camels.
Joe thinks he is odd.

All the camels have a hump.
Joe's back is flat. "I need a hump," he tells the ants.

A few ants crawl on his back and make an anthill. But the dirt slides down his long fur. Joe feels awful.

“I will drink and grow a hump,” thinks Joe. So he drinks but still has no hump.

Joe feels hurt and left out.
He really wants a hump.

Joe turns and sees an animal that looks like him. “Wow!” thinks Joe. “Here is a camel without a hump.”

Joe runs to the animal and smiles. “I am so happy. Now I am not the only camel without a hump.”

The new arrival smirks, “You are not a camel. You are an alpaca, like me.”

From blending to fluency

To develop fluency, the student needs to re-read the same book multiple times. Students might initially sound out every word and re-read every sentence but, with practice, blending will become more automatic. The fluency chart can be used to develop automaticity of blending by providing single word blending practice.

While reading the book, the student:

- blends the sounds of each unknown word in the sentence
- identifies and reads high frequency words
- re-reads the sentence from the beginning
- discusses the meaning of the sentence

When finished, the student needs to re-read the whole book and practise reading the same book until they can read at a steady pace with minimal sounding out.

Making connections - questions and discussion

After the student has read the book, or the relevant page, ask them one or more of the following questions and discuss:

1. What is the problem in the story? Why does Joe feel odd?
2. How does Joe try to solve his problem? Can you think of another solution that Joe could try?
3. Why did Joe drink water to grow a hump? What was he thinking? What do camels store in their humps? It is not water.
4. How is an alpaca similar or different to a camel?
5. Can you find in the story 3 ways of spelling the /er/ sound? Write words from the story that have the /er/ sound.
6. To smirk is to smile in a certain way. Look at the meaning on the vocabulary page. Can you smile like you know something that someone else doesn't? Can you express different emotions with different smiles?

About this series

The SPELD SA Phonic Book Series complements the teaching of reading and writing using a structured synthetic phonics approach. SPELD SA aims to help Aboriginal students engage with phonic books by having characters, content and settings that reflect Aboriginal communities. In developing this series, SPELD SA has consulted with people who live and work in the Anangu, Pitjantjatjara Yankunytjatjara (APY) Lands. We understand that the content, settings and characters may not reflect all Aboriginal people and their experiences but hope that Aboriginal students learning to read can find some familiarity in and connection with these books in their literacy journey.

Each set of books introduces a group of sounds for students to blend to read words. The books with a single star icon on the front cover contain a lower word count and less high frequency words. The books with two stars contain a higher word count, a greater number of high frequency words and/or more complex word structure. Please consider your student's ability when choosing a book for them to read. For a comprehensive explanation of the structure of the series, please refer to the SPELD SA website.
